The Need for 45-Day Ballot Transit Time

The most persistent problem which continues to face Arizona military and overseas voters is the extremely short period of time these voters have to receive, vote, and return their absentee ballots in order to be counted. While electronic transmission of election materials offers an alternative to inadequate ballot transit time in emergency situations, the fact is that insufficient ballot transit time through the mail remains the primary obstacle to ensuring timely delivery of absentee ballots to all who request them. Our post-election surveys and Postal Service statistics indicate that a 45-day transit time is needed for absentee ballots sent through international mail or the military APO/ FPO (overseas) post offices. This round trip transit time is especially necessary because of the remote location of many military personnel and overseas citizens such as sailors and marines aboard ship, airmen and sailors at isolated tracking sites around the world, as well as Department of State personnel and citizen employees of American multinational corporations in remote areas.

For all elections, the official charged with the printing and distribution of ballots and election materials shall print as many absentee ballots as may be necessary as soon as possible after receiving the information concerning candidates and measures to be voted on at an election, and balloting materials shall be mailed not later than the 45th day before the election.

Late Registration Procedures

We recommend that Arizona allow persons recently separated from the Uniformed Services or overseas employment, and their family members, to be able to register late or be exempt from registration. Many of these citizens go through a transition period when they first leave the Uniformed Services or overseas employment and may reside in your state just prior to an election and this time frame does not meet your state's normal residency requirements. Often, the date of discharge or termination of overseas employment and a state's registration requirement combine to disenfranchise a discharged military member or overseas citizen returning home after employment abroad. Special procedures to allow these persons to register and vote would solve this problem. Twenty-six states currently allow such procedures.

Sample Language

An individual, or accompanying family member who has been discharged or separated from the Uniformed Services, the merchant marine, or from employment outside the territorial limits of the United States, too late to enable him or her to register by the regular state deadline for registration, shall be entitled to register for the purpose of voting at the next ensuing election after such discharge, separation, or termination of employment.

Emergency Authority for Chief Election Official

During a period of a declared emergency or other situation where a short time-frame for ballot transmission is created, it is recommended that Arizona's Chief Election Official have the authority to designate alternate methods for handling absentee ballots to ensure voters have the opportunity to exercise their right to vote. The Chief Election Official and the Federal Voting Assistance Program could establish expeditious methods for handling absentee ballots including electronic transmission.

If a national or local emergency or other situation arises which makes substantial compliance with the provisions of the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act impossible or unreasonable, such as a natural disaster or an armed conflict involving United States Armed Forces, or mobilization of those forces, including State National Guard and Reserve components of this state, the Chief Election Official may prescribe, by emergency orders or rules, such special procedures or requirements as may be necessary to facilitate absentee voting by those citizens directly affected who otherwise are eligible to vote in the state.

The Chief Election Official shall adopt rules describing the emergency powers and the situations in which the powers will be exercised.

Enfranchise Citizens Who Have Never Resided in the U.S.

There are many U.S. citizens who have never resided in a state and under current law are not entitled to vote. These are usually first or second generation citizens who are subject to U.S. income tax and all other requirements of citizens. Except for the fact that they have never resided in a state, they would be eligible to vote in Federal elections. Some local election officials make exceptions and allow these citizens to vote. Thirteen states have passed legislation allowing these citizens to claim legal residence of a parent. We recommend these citizens be allowed to vote in elections for Federal offices where either parent is eligible to vote under UOCAVA.

Sample Language

If a U.S. citizen outside the United States who has never lived in the United States has a parent who is a qualified elector, then that person is eligible to register and vote where his or her parent is a qualified elector.

Expand Use of Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot

Currently the Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot (FWAB) may be used only in general elections for Federal offices only. This ballot is prepositioned worldwide at Embassies and Consulates, military installations and overseas organizations and corporations with American membership. By expanding its use to include special, primary and runoff elections for Federal offices, citizens would not be disenfranchised because regular ballots are not received in a timely manner. Frequently, there is insufficient time between the call for a special election and the actual election and between primary and runoff elections. Allowing use of the FWAB in these elections would reduce the possible need for legal action when insufficient time exists for the ballot to be received, voted and returned to be counted. During past primaries, on an ad hoc basis, several states and jurisdictions allowed the FWAB to be used for offices other than Federal offices. Eleven other states have legislatively expanded its use beyond the Federal law.

In addition, for those citizens that desire to vote in Federal elections only, the acceptance of the FWAB transmission envelope as a request for registration simultaneously with the submission of the FWAB would further simplify the process, improve on transit time and help ensure enfranchisement. It should be noted that the information requested on the FWAB transmission envelope is basically the same as the information requested from the voter on the Federal Post Card Application (FPCA). We recommend the FWAB transmission envelope and FWAB be accepted simultaneously as a registration form and ballot by the state for general election and Federal offices if:

- (1) the information submitted complied with the state's registration requirements;
- (2) the voter is otherwise eligible to vote absentee in the jurisdiction where the request is submitted;
- (3) the request is received by the appropriate state election official not less than 30 days before the election or by the registration deadline established by the state.

The adoption of this initiative would save the state money and alleviate administrative responsibilities on the local election official.
